

Suicide is a deeply emotional poem that explores the hidden reality of suicidal thoughts, revealing that it isn't always visible on the outside but often felt deeply within. It highlights the importance of being heard, understood, and supported during life's darkest moments.