

“These Walls” is an emotional poem about feeling trapped within overwhelming thoughts and emotions. Through the imagery of walls closing in, the poem explores isolation, hidden pain, and the struggle to hold yourself together when everything feels like it is falling apart.