

“Don’t Say You Love Me” is an emotional poem about wanting honesty and sincerity in love. It explores the fear of being hurt by empty promises and the desire for a love that is shown through actions, commitment, and genuine feelings.