

“True Love” is a heartfelt poem about discovering love after believing it was something that didn’t exist. It explores the fear of opening your heart, trying to push your feelings away, and eventually realizing that true love may be worth taking a chance on.